Guna-Allergy-Prev is an effective anti-allergic medicine, without negative adverse reactions. It restores the regulation of the immune system by enabling the cilia and respiratory system to work effectively in removing the proteins that trigger the allergic attacks. Guna Mood

Guna-Mood was developed for patients experiencing mood swings, irritability, depression, seasonal affective disorder or other psychological dysfunctions. It is particularly ideal for pre-menopausal and perimenopausal symptoms, in addition to treating the symptoms of PMS in young women.

Guna-Mood is an innovative homeopathic medicine formulated in light of recent scientific discoveries and developments in Neurophysiology, and acts both on the root cause and effects of anxious depressive syndromes.

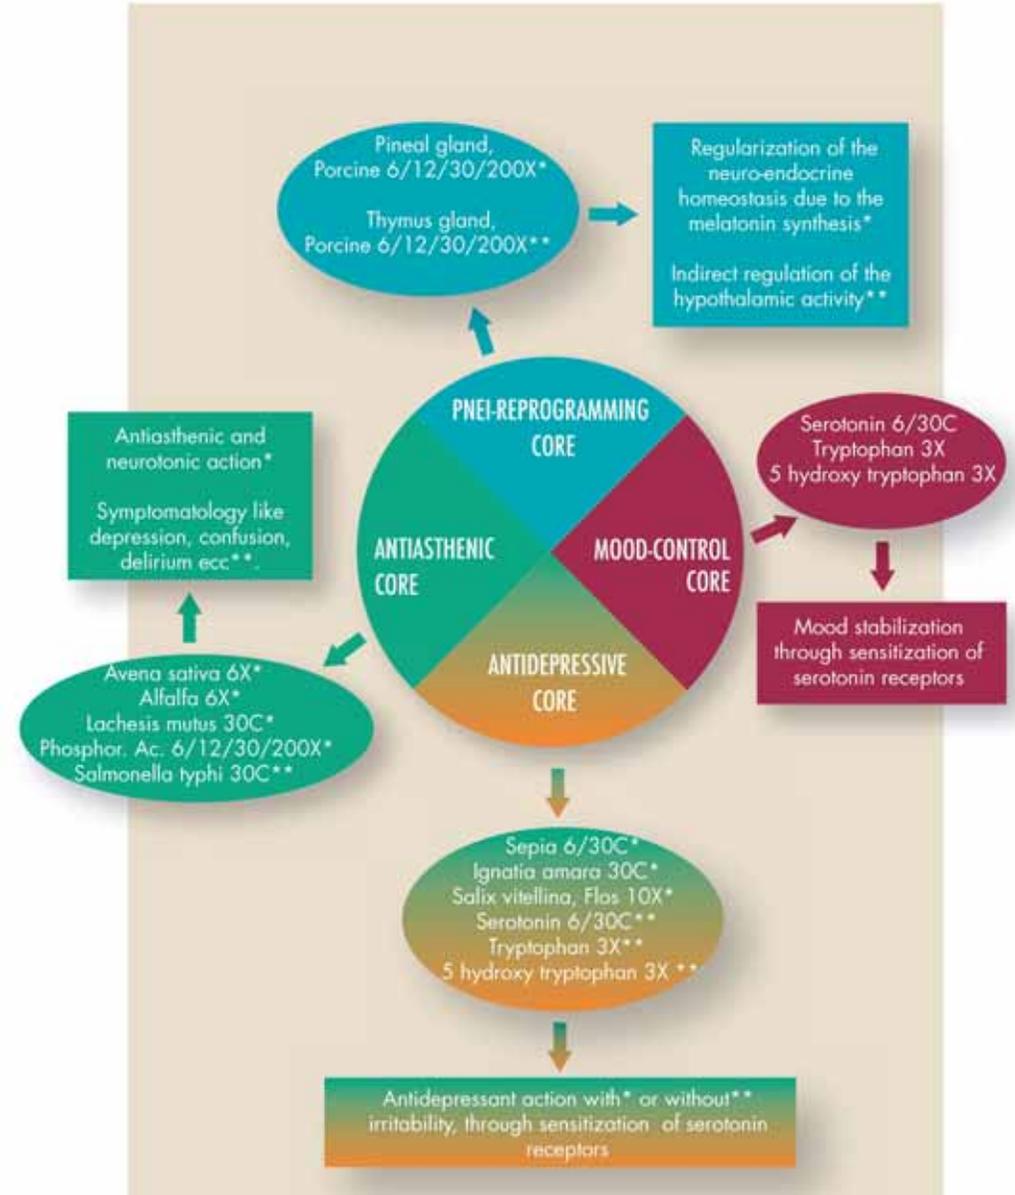

Administered at the onset of anxious depressive syndrome, when there are clear symptoms of cyclic mood disorders, inability to concentrate, headaches, and fatigue; in cases of psychological eating disorders, such as compulsive attitudes towards food, bulimia, and Anorexia nervosa.

Guna-Mood is an effective medicine, without adverse reactions, which not only modulates the anxious depressive syndrome, but also promotes healing of the patient as a unit of mind and body, by acting on the whole neuro-immune-endocrine axis. Significant improvements are seen in restoration of appetite and sleeping patterns, and concentration; in addition to a reduction in mental and physical fatigue. Guna-Mood is non-addictive, does not alter the state of consciousness or attention and is well tolerated

Uses: Anxious depression; cyclic mood disorders; psychogenic food disorders (in particular bulimia, with carbohydrate craving); depressive states and mood instability in the menopausal and pre-menopausal period.
